

Speaker Bio

JULIE LAVENDER LE DOUX

Julie Lavender Le Doux is an inspiring author, musician, and public speaker whose creative journey took a transformative turn when she moved from Southern California to a historic New England farm in 2003. It was here that Julie faced and overcame debilitating fears, launching a multi-faceted career spanning decades of music, visual art, and children's literature creation.

She is the author of The Amazings Series, a captivating fiction collection for kids aged 10-14, beginning its ten-book journey in the fall of 2024. This series immerses readers in a fantastical world where a quirky family dares to stand against the enormous societal pressures of "The Gray Side" with power from the supernatural realm of Wonder.

A successful homeschooler of her three children, Julie is now a proud grandmother, bringing her stories to the next generation. She delights in concocting unexpected, wacky, and playfully thought-provoking book adventures that delight and inspire audiences of all ages.

Julie's personal experiences have fueled her passion for helping others navigate the challenges of trauma and fear. In her powerful speaking sessions, Julie draws from her own family's journey through an unthinkable situation to teach others how to turn pain into victory. Her session, "When Trauma Hits Home," offers practical steps for overcoming daunting trauma to find healing and restoration for kids, adults, and families. She also passionately teaches the "Life Skill of Fear-Free Living."

Beyond her writing and speaking engagements, Julie has had a diverse career as a musician, composing and performing her original vocal music. She also founded DreamFarm Radio, a nationally syndicated jazz program that reaches hundreds of thousands of listeners each week. Her acclaimed musical projects, including The Siddur Project and Rising: A Modern Cantata for the World to Come, showcase her unique ability to blend jazz music, art, and spirituality. Julie is currently developing Presence Jazz, a fresh synergy of original jazz music and artisan worship, with album releases scheduled to begin in 2025.

Julie Lavender Le Doux is not afraid to be amazing, and she's passionate about helping others find the courage to fulfill their amazing, designer dreams too.
